

Corporazione delle Arti

Arti del Ricamo e Tessili Italiane

Written by Adriana Armani & Gisella Tamagno

Improving Quality in teacher's – students relationships under the Covid-19 challenge

More than talking about the related students of me and Gisella separately, we prefer to focus about the relationship between us (President and Vice President) and the associates of Corporazione delle Arti.

Since the beginning of Covid 19, we have faced a stop to our forecasted meetings, during the full year. After a very first moment in which we were astonished and a little bit disoriented, we have decided to be forced to change our view about meetings.

No more meetings during the exhibitions, no more during summits, then we asked ourselves: "No more at all? Should we stop our just started activity?"

It was impossible indeed, but many of our associates have no familiarity with on line connection media. We have so decided to improve their knowledge, as first step.

Basic lessons about how to use some platforms and free programs, as well as video or photo editors and Office suite, have been particularly useful, but for the younger of them.

Unfortunately, we face an old age in most of our associates who are all over 65. It results in difficulties for interest in learning new informatic skills that they do not believe to be so important for themselves.

Anyway, we do not stop in proposing fortnightly meetings on line. Even if less than half of them usually participate, being not obliged, we strongly believe that going on and on, it helps to strengthen the group, linking one to the other.